

Press Communicat Development

An adaptation of the Hell Printer, which will facilitate the transmission and reception of news messages, has been demonstrated at Bad Nauheim. Whereas previously Hell machines printed Roman characters on a narrow tape, the new machine is a page printer using large rolls of paper such as are used by teleprinters. The machine uses ordinary typewriter ribbon, thus eliminating the need for special ink.

The new apparatus further permits the production of a certain number of copies by means of the usual duplicating processes.
