Elliott Roosevelt
Long a "Problem Child"
War Hero in Own Right
Look at His Record

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The son of one of the richest industrialists of the nation, who has attested a lot of publicity, will have attained a lot of distinction in the war for battle with the German power. His name is Elliott Roosevelt, and he is now a war hero in his own right.

Elliott Roosevelt was born in New York City on July 30, 1915. He was the son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Anna Eleanor Roosevelt. He was educated in private schools in New York City and later attended Harvard University, where he graduated in 1937.

Elliott Roosevelt was a member of the United States Navy during World War II and served as a pilot in the Pacific Theatre. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his service and was mentioned in dispatches for his bravery in combat.

In addition to his military service, Elliott Roosevelt was a successful businessman. He was the founder and president of several companies, including the Ford Motor Company.

Elliott Roosevelt was married twice. His first wife was Dorothy Walker, a famous American actress. They had two children together.

Elliott Roosevelt died on May 10, 1944, in a plane crash in the Pacific Ocean. He was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor for his heroism.

The story of Elliott Roosevelt's life and career is one of success and sacrifice, and his legacy continues to inspire people today.
